REV. DR. GEOBGE AT BINGHAMTON.—
The Binghamton (N. Y.) Republican of Monday last contained the following complimentary notice of a prominent Wheeling minister:

The First M. E. Church of Elmira extended a most cordial greeting yesterday to Rev. A. C. George, D. D., the former pastor of that church. Dr. George is now living at Wheeling, W. Va., where he takes high rank as an able preacher and writer, as well as a remarkbly useful and beloved pastor of a large and influential church. His summer vacation is being spent in visiting his aged father in Dansville, N. Y., and other relatives of his own and Mrs. George's, who accompanies him. His sermon yesterday morning was one made up of sound doctrine, practical instructions and beautiful illustrations, and was listened to throughout with the

Our reporter happened in about half-past eight o'clock, and found the orstor hard at work smashing things. For the space of thirty minutes or more, Meng talked excitedly of many things that were going to smash, and fearful lest the temple of justice abould tumble under the inspiration of the mighty Meng, our representative hastily departed. About 11 o'clock last night Mr. Wm About 11 o'cick last night Mr. who resides on the National Road about two miles east of the city, came into town with a light spring wagon, which held the last mortal remains of Hamilton R. Forsythe, a man who was well known to most of our citizens, was well known to most of our chilers, having been born and raised in the city. Mr. Stamm drove immediately to the Court House, and in a few mo-ments a crowd had collected about the wagon, eager to ascertain the particulars of the tragedy, for such it appeared to those who had seen Mr. Foreythe on the streets as usual early in it appeared to those who had seen Mr.

Forsythe on the streets as usual early in the evening, to all appearances in the enjoyment of excellent health.
Mr. Rhams was kept busy for soms time answering the many inquiries which were applied to him, and his story was consequently of a rather disconnected character. From what he said, however, it was evident that Forsythe had had some difficulty with Henry Schmulbach, near Stamm's Four Mile House, and that Schmulbach had rigiven him a severe beating, which had in all probability been the immediate cause of his death. Mr. Stamm gave a representative of the INTLICENCES some account of the difficulty, but his evidence before the Coroner's jury, being more complete, is given lustead of the interview.
Justice W. W. Miller, of Union district

John Fendt was the first witness sworn. His evidence was in substance as follows: When I first saw Forsythe he was coming up the pike and I was standing at the Four Mile House. As I had a team tied in front of the house, and he was coming up at a rapid speed, I ran out and stopped his team to prevent a collision. He halloed "I can drive this team," and drove on toward Elm Grove. Mr. Ed. Mendel came along a moment afterwards with his team, and tying his horses at Neuhausen's he got in with me, in my buggy, and we drove after Forsythe, for the purpose of overtaking him and getting possession of the team, which Mr. Mendel thought he was driving too rapidly. It was evident that which Mr. Archief though the was trident that Forsythe was intoxicated, and that he was in no condition to manage the team. We overtook him near Elm Grove, and Mr. Mendel left me and got in the buggy We overtook him near Elm Grove, and Mr. Mendel left me and got in the boggy with Forsythe. As we came back we met Schmulbach was on foot, on the upper side of the road. As we came up he approached Mendel and Forsythe, saying, "I want this team." Forsythe saying, "I want this team." Forsythe replied "You can have them." Mendel stopped the horses and Forsythe jumped out. Schmulbach took hold of him, and they fell together, Schmulbach underneath. Schmulbach took hold of him, and they fell together, Schmulbach underneath. Schmulbach managed to turn over, and springing to his feet struck Forsythe several blows with his fist, it was about 10 o'clock when it happened. Mendel and witness picked up Forsythe and laid him out on the grass. Forsythe lived only about twenty minutes. Schmulbach got into his buggy and drove off. Forsythe was not conscious any time after the difficulty. When the two men fell they fell under witness' horse, and witness stood beside them during the whole of the difficulty. Witness was pretty sure that Forsythe was under the influence of liquor, but could not say as to Schmulbach. Schmulbach's team stood in front of Walter's place when they drove in with the body.

Wm. Stamm was next sworn. He stated that he was sitting at the door of the team stood in front of Waiter's place when they drove in with the body.

Wm. Stamm was next sworn. He stated that he was sitting at the door of the Stamm House with some ladies when Forsythe drove up rather rapidly with Schmulbach's team. The ladies were frightened, and jumped up and ran into the hall. Forsythe drove up to the hitching post and said, "This is Hen. Schmulbach's team, and my name's Ham. Forsythe." Forsythe drove up to the top of the hill, and whirled around and came back again. Then, he again turned and drove rapidly out the pike. Mendel and Fendt shortly afterwards started after him. A few moments afterwards witness saw two buggles coming down the road, and Mr. Heber List, who was sitting in front of the hotel, suggested that some one had better take Schmulbach's horses from Forsythe. Just as several of the men sitting by got up to go after the horses Schmulbach and Forsythe tackled each other. Mr. Phinney held Fendt's horses, while I held Schmulbach's team. Schmulbach came up the road in a buggy with Billy Heuser from Waiter's. After the trouble Schmulbach came to me and said, "These are my horses." I handed him the ribbons, and came to me and said. "These are my horses." I handed him the ribbons, and said "Here are your lines." We picked up Forsythe, washed him and gave him some whisky. Mr. List suggested that came to me and said. "These are my horses." I handed him the ribbons, and said "Here are your lines." We picked up unconscious and can be prorysthe, washed him and gave him some whisky. Mr. List suggested that we take him to Wheeling, where he could have a particular because the could have been a particular because the could have been a because the could have been a because the could have been a particular because the could have been a beautiful to be assisted home.
